Program Note

The full score is the motion picture sound track written for the film Moira. The film style is depressing and dark. The story is about two teenagers suffer from human trafficking. I used orchestra instruments but also combined with band instruments like guitar, bass and drum set and mostly was using synthesizers and try to build a modern style sound track. Synthesizers are variate from pad, drones, pulse and even guitar synthesizer and bell. This film has a lot of action scenes and fights, so I tend to focus the music on character's action descriptions. I use many combinations of instruments in different themes, such as harp and piano. Strings and percussions. Brass and synthesizers. Each one corresponds to a theme.

The music divided to three characters' themes. The main theme of the film, "Moira Theme", is basically using harp and piano. Describing a feeling of innocent, dark and somber. Throughout the film, her theme goes from fearful to angry to infatuated and to angry again. The second theme is Christian's theme, the main melody played by electronic guitar and bass. Christian's music can remain mostly the same throughout the film with elements of anger, maturity, empowerment, and gritty determination all present. The last one is Mike's theme, constitute by strings and drum. Mike's theme represents his constant unwinnable battle. He's a good person surrounded by ugliness with a struggle to not allow himself to be consumed by it. With the conflict between his protective nature and a mandate to stay on mission governing his actions.
